Gun Traced In Shooting Of Reuther

Detroit, June 4 (AP)—Hopes of tracing the assailant of Victor Reuther continued today to be placed on the shotgun he left behind.

Chattanooga, Tenn. police Friday were asked to help trace a 12 gauge shotgun of the same type used in the attack on the CIO United Auto Workers official.

A former Ford Motor Co. foundry worker, held without charge by Detroit police, admitted having purchased a weapon similar to that used on Reuther.

But he said he pawned the gun for $22 in Chattanooga, and later asked another person to redeem the weapon for him. It wasn't returned, he said.

So Chattanooga police have been asked to find out who if anyone—now has the gun.

Oil Tanker Disabled Off Florida Coast

Tugs and Cutters Go To Aid Stricken Ship

Miami, Fla., June 4 (AP)—Coast Guard cutters and commercial tugs were to renew their efforts today to save a disabled oil tanker adrift in heavy seas off the north-west Florida coast.

The 10,803-ton tanker Flagship Sincow wallowed in swells about 100 miles east northeast of Jacksonville with a crew of 42 men aboard.

The Coast Guard Cutter Blackhaw radioed Coast Guard headquarters here last night that a tow line parted and the Flagship, Sincow desired no further towing attempts during the night.

A commercial tug reached the scene at midnight. The Coast Guard cutters Blackhaw and Aurora arrived earlier after speeding to the stricken vessel from their Savannah, Ga., base.

Two other ships, the Delaware Sun and Sonoco Denver, both oil tankers, also stood by.

The Flagship Sincow, of the Sinclair Oil company's tanker fleet, had 15 feet of water in her engine room. A broken casing let the sea pour in. The casing was part of her steam condensing system.

Capt. J. H. Tibbets, master of the stricken vessel, said his crew was "very calm" but added "it is questionable how long we can stay afloat."

Fort Custer Staff Worker Found Dead In Kalamazoo River

Battle Creek, Mich., June 4 (AP)—Police found Robert O. Blankert, 46, civilian employee at Fort Custer, dead in the Kalamazoo river here early this morning. His nose and jaw had been broken.

Police came upon the body while investigating a report of prowlers at a produce warehouse beside the river. They found a trampled, blood-stained area in weeds, indicating a fight had occurred there.

Accused Of Stalling Coal Wage Dickers, John L. Lewis Roars

By HAROLD W. WARD
Bluefield, W. Va., June 4 (AP)—Contract talks between John L. Lewis and the Southern Coal Producers Association were in week-end recess today, while the United Mine Workers' leader returned to Washington for unexplained business.

Lewis permitted the southern operators, and reporters, to guess whether he meant to see representatives of the northern or other segments of the industry in Washington.

He would not say whether he intends to return to Bluefield when the southern negotiations resume Monday afternoon.

The conference yesterday was enlivened by an outburst from Lewis over a statement the operators announced they were making public. It said in effect that Lewis was stalling for time, and called upon him to get down to bargaining on the contract.

It quoted from a declaration by Lewis to the National Labor Relations Board last September in which he recognized the Southern Coal Producers association as a bargaining agent for part of the coal industry.

Lewis roared with anger, conferees reported later. But the operator statement was made public and Lewis refused to comment on it to reporters.

Some operators now think Lewis will have to bargain seriously or face possible court action again under the Taft-Hartley act. Such a legal move would delay the southern talks, however, and that might fit into Lewis' strategy too.

President Joseph E. Moody of the Southern association left also for a week-end in Washington. He said that the opening day of negotiations yesterday had been "up with me" and questions from Lewis to the Southern association, challenging the SCA's authority to bargain.

Four Moundsvine Escapers Captured

Tough Convicts Rounded Up In West Virginia

Moundsville, W. Va., June 4 (AP)—Four of the 14 long term prisoners who broke out of West Virginia state penitentiary were rounded up today a little more than 24 hours after they had saved their way to freedom.

Warden Orel J. Sreen said Dennis P. Taylor, 27, Jack Heene, 27, Donald Wurster, 23, and one other man not identified immediately were recaptured in the Rosby's Rock vicinity about six miles east of here.

Taylor, serving a 25-year sentence from Kanawha county for a $1,700 armed robbery, was caught by an alert country store proprietor as he entered the establishment to buy food.

The other three were apprehended in the woods nearby, where they apparently were awaiting Taylor's return, the warden said.

Heene was serving a life sentence as a habitual criminal from Ohio county, and Wurster was sentenced from the same county to a 30-year term for armed robbery and kidnapping.

Floyd Fritzman, who runs a store at Glen Easton, 10 miles from Moundsville, was responsible for catching Taylor, Sreen said.

Fritzman leveled a rifle at Taylor when the convict came into the store shortly before 9 a. m. (EST) in search of food. The grocer recognized his prison garb.

Meanwhile, search for the others was concentrated in the eastern area near Shadyside, O., after a constable reported he had fired at two or three men who fled from a highway into the hills. The 14 escaped yesterday.

New Terms Offered To Settle Railway Walkout In Berlin

Berlin, June 4 (AP)—West Berlin rail strikers offered new terms today for settlement of a two-week walkout which has halted all train traffic.

The strikers proposed to the Russian-sponsored rail management that the railroad divide itself into east and west sections like everything else in Berlin. Under the plan the west section would do business with the striking anti-Communist union and the east section with the non-striking Communist union.

There was no immediate indication whether the idea would be considered favorably by the Soviet-controlled railway.

LIKES GERMANY BEST—Mrs. Catherine McCarthy of New Hyde Park, N. Y., and daughter Joan, 23, look at photograph of Joan's brother Daniel, 22, who wants to give up his U. S. citizenship to live in Germany. Mrs. McCarthy had no luck yesterday persuading him to remain an American citizen.

The 22-year-old ex-GI told his mother by Trans-Atlantic phone he preferred to renounce his American citizenship and stay in Germany, the country he helped defeat.

"It's a step I feel necessary and advisable to take," he said in the $36 phone call arranged and paid for by the American military government district attorney whose job it is to prosecute young McCarthy for entering Germany illegally.

His mother said she told her son "We think you have a hole in your head."

She lamented that she couldn't talk to the youth in person and said "if I had the price, I'd fly tomorrow."

Joker Just Found In Tax Limit Law

Lansing, June 4 (AP)—A legislative "joker" was reported today to have repealed the 1948 Bates law taking home rule cities out from under the 15-mill tax limitation.

Assistant Attorney General G. Douglas Clapperton, legal adviser to the State Municipal Finance commission, said the "joker" had just been discovered.

Clapperton said that in his opinion, however, the joker would not affect the eleven home-rule, 15-mill cities which had been given release by the Bates law.

"When the Bates bill became law," he said, "it wiped out the charter provisions which held them under the 15-mill limitation. Now by repealing the repealer you can't put them back in their original position. But any other city which wanted to come under the 15-mill limitation would do so, in my opinion."

He said the "joker" was in a bill introduced by Senator Frank J. Andrews (R-Hillman) which purported to give municipalities the right to sell a public utility. In addition, he said, it deleted the major portion of the Bates law.

Gov. Williams has signed the Andrews bill.

The Bates law, in effect, declared that home rule cities could not be included in the allocation of the 15-mill tax among local governments. It allowed the allocation boards to split the 15-mills between other units and gave the cities permission to levy an additional 10 mills.

It was widely heralded as a means of permitting the big 15-mill cities to increase their taxing power. They were the hardest pressed for cash of all local units in Michigan.

J. Dean Stanley, of the Municipal Finance commission, said a court suit probably would be necessary to decide finally whether the "joker" would put the 15-mill cities back under the 15-mill limitation.

Washington, June 4 (AP)—Senate leaders trying to rally support for a compromise version of the administration's labor bill claimed progress today. But they figure they need still more votes.

Their headway claim, moreover, was minimized within the party ranks. Senator Ellender (D-La.) said any support they have picked up is "trifling." He complained that the proposed compromise would not keep nearly enough of the Taft-Hartley law.

Mr. Truman campaigned for repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, and he never publicly has agreed to anything less. However, one high-placed Democratic official predicted privately that the proposed compromise "won't run into too much trouble" at the White House.

The administration bill is scheduled to come up for Senate debate Monday. It would repeal the T-H act and re-enact the old Wagner law with a few changes endorsed by Mr. Truman.

The only rival bill at this point is a substitute sponsored by GOP Senators Taft (Ohio), Donnell (Mo.) and Smith (N.J.). It would make more than a score of changes in the T-H law, but would keep what Taft calls its basic principles.

He served as Detroit police head for five years, resigning from that post in December, 1939.

During World War I, he commanded the 119th field artillery regiment. Gen. John J. Pershing cited him for exceptional and meritorious service.

Bow-Tie Williams Gives Truman One
Washington, June 4 (AP)—Ex-haberdasher Harry S. Truman, now president of the United States, has lost none of his skill with a bow tie.

He was visited Friday by Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan—an inveterate wearer of bow ties—who presented him with a specially-made number.

The president promptly peeled off his polka dot four-in-hand and put on the gift without benefit of mirrors. It was a red and gray job.

Nationalists May Move Government To Chungking Next

Famed One-Eyed General Leads Communist Drive

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
Nanking, June 4 (AP)—Two seasoned Chinese Communist armies of 600,000 men today were reported marching south toward Canton, refugee Nationalist capital.

The Nationalists have possibly 300,000 men to face the twin drives.

At the same time, other reports in this fallen capital said the Nationalists had 250,000 troops deployed along the approaches to Chungking, the wartime capital.

The western Chinese city may be the next seat of the Chinese Nationalist government after Canton.

One of the two Communist armies moving south toward Canton is the second field army of famed, one-eyed Gen. Liu Po-Cheng. It has an estimated 200,000 men.

Defense Weak
Advance elements are believed closing in on Kishui, 300 miles northeast of Canton. Their next objective probably will be the Kan river city of Kansien, 100 miles closer to Canton.

From Kansien, Liu's army is expected to drive southwestward to Kukong, an outer defense city for Canton 150 rail miles from the refugee capital.

Gen. Yu Han-Mow, Nationalist commander in South China, has headquarters at Kukong along with 100,000 troops. Yu's forces are expected to disintegrate before the advance of Liu's veterans.

Gen. Lin Piao, conqueror of Manchuria, is marching his fourth field army of 400,000 men down the Canton-Hankow railway west of Liu's troops.

The Manchurians are said to be nearing Pingliang, about 60 miles northeast of Changsha, about 400 miles north of Canton, formerly was headquarters of Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi.

General Pai, with 200,000 of the best troops left to Nationalist China, is believed forming a temporary defense line along the strong natural positions around Hengyang, 100 miles south of Changsha.

However, Pai is expected to withdraw to the southwest into his native province of Kwangsi for a final stand.

River Gorges Guarded

Kwangsi forms the strongest sector of a southwest defense line which the government is said to be trying to set up. The line would run northwest through Kweichow province into Szechwan. Chungking is located in Szechwan.

Best information is that Szechwan province is heavily defended. About 100,000 troops under Nationalist Gen. Sung Hsi-Lien hold the Yangtze river gorges. This is the gateway to Szechwan.

The second major route into Szechwan, more than 200 miles north of the gorges, is defended by 150,000 troops under Gen. Hu Tsung-Nan. Hu is falling back on north Szechwan after giving up

Grand Jury Takes Up Church Slaying Case Of Youth, 16

Roanoke, Va., June 4 (AP)—The case of 16-year-old Lee Scott, charged with murder in the church slaying of Dana Marie Weaver, will go before a Hastings court grand jury Monday.

If Scott is indicted by the grand jury, a date for his trial will be set Monday afternoon.

Juvenile court judge K. A. Pate ordered the youth held for grand jury action yesterday after a 45-minute preliminary hearing closed to the press.

Dana Marie's body was found in the kitchen of the Christ Episcopal church parish house here on May 9. Scott, choir boy in the church and one of the girl's classmates, was later arrested and charged with the murder.

Reports of a psychiatrist and a psychologist who examined Scott at the request of juvenile authorities were available for reference during the hearing.

The corner has reported Dana Marie, also 16, died of suffocation. The church janitor found her body as he made his morning rounds. Police said she was slain the night before.

TRACK BLOWN UP

Prague, Czechoslovakia, June 4 (AP)—The Czechoslovak press bureau said today "terrorists" blew up a track on the main Prague-Pilsen line several days ago. A train was halted, however, before it ran through the area about seven miles southeast of Prague, the report added.

Vinson Asks $50,000 For B36 Inquiry

Washington, June 4 (AP)—The House will be asked next week to put up $50,000 for a "let-the-chips-fly" investigation of the B-36 and air force purchasing in general.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House armed services committee told newsmen he will ask for that amount as soon as the House approves a committee-backed resolution ordering the inquiry.

The resolution is due for House passage Tuesday or Wednesday.

Vinson himself will direct the investigation. He said he plans to employ expert special counsel and a staff to get to the bottom of the current controversy centering around the big air force bomber.

The investigation, he added, may force to the surface sharp differences existing between the navy and the air force.

The inquiry was touched off by a House speech by Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) of the armed services committee.

Van Zandt, a captain in the Naval Reserve, said he had heard "ugly, disturbing reports" about connections between Secretary of Defense Johnson and Floyd Odium, who controls Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp., maker of the B-26.

Also, the Pennsylvania said, he had heard reports that Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington planned to quit his job and take over an aviation combine controlled by Odium.

Symington retorted sharply. In a letter yesterday to Vinson, he said Van Zandt's "basic innuendo is that the B-36 picture is riddled with politics, influence and disregard to the military security of the country."

"I deny this categorically," Symington said he has never discussed with Odium "any kind of position with Mr. Odium or his associates or with any other plane manufacturer."

Deer Hurdles Into Escanaba Gift Shop, Smashes Up Stock

The Eden Gift Shop at 1626 Ludington was entered at 8:30 this morning in a daring daylight raid that resulted in a loss of several hundred dollars to E. J. Eden, proprietor. Entrance was made by breaking an eight-by-ten plate glass window near the door.

Torch Singer Freed Of Possessing Dope

Opium Plant In Frisco Branded Frameup

San Francisco, June 4 (AP)—A jury of six women and six men acquitted torch singer Billie Holiday last night of a charge of possession of opium.

The verdict was returned after two and a half hours' deliberation.

The husky-voiced entertainer took the witness stand in her own behalf.

She testified her manager, John Levy, handed her a paper-wrapped parcel last Jan. 22 and told her to get rid of it.

"John told me to throw some trash away. I did it," she said. "My man makes me wait on him not him on me."

But before she could dispose of the parcel, she said someone grabbed her.

The prosecution said the package contained a bundle of opium and that an improvised opium pipe was found in Miss Holiday's bureau.

"I never smoked opium in my life," the singer told the court. "I didn't know those things—the tube and the nippie—were in my dresser drawer."

The defense contended Levy had turned informer on the singer to avoid marrying her and after arranging the raid, planted the drug on her.

Farmers In Ontario Hit Hard By Drouth

Toronto, June 4 (AP)—Lack of rainfall in central Ontario threatens farmers with a drought which Ontario's agriculture minister, T. L. Kennedy, says is costing upwards of $5,000,000 a day.

Weather forecasts offered no hope of immediate relief for the parched area, stretching west from Toronto to Hamilton and north to Georgian Bay, an area of roughly 4,000 square miles.

Eastern Ontario and northern areas haven't suffered badly, so far.

Berlin Future Debated Today Behind Curtain

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

Paris, June 4 (AP)—Russia and the west both were behind a curtain today, continuing efforts in secret session to find a way of co-existence in Berlin.

Behind a news blackout, the diplomats of the Big Four foreign ministers conference face more than mere restoration of harmony in the German capital. Both sides believe—with apparent sincerity—that a way of life can be worked out.

With their experts—all pledged to secrecy—the foreign ministers will begin today's talks in the Pink palace at 3 p. m. (9 a. m. EST).

After a secret session yesterday, the only encouraging sign was the announcement the ministers would meet again today.

Neither Russia nor the western powers had rejected their rival plans for making Berlin a single city.

The big barrier between the two sides was understood to be the question of whether any one power can be permitted to veto acts of the city government or elections of city government officials.

Russia was not expected to give up her insistence on veto power unless other considerations made it advisable. After the blockade last year rioters drove the elected anti-Communist government out of city hall in the Soviet zone.

New city elections were held in the western sector with the Russians refusing to participate. A dual city government, with two currencies, resulted.

The present strike of railway workers in the western zone of Berlin that has paralyzed the city rail system for a fortnight grew out of the currency conflict.

One of the problems of the four foreign ministers are believed discussing is how a single city administration can function without harming the interests of the four occupying powers.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson has summoned Lewis Douglas, American ambassador in London, as an adviser on technical problems of the German question. Douglas is expected to reach Paris Sunday.

Three Children Die In Wooden Ice Box

Suffocation Claims Tots At Walnut Ridge, Ark.

Walnut Ridge, Ark., June 4 (AP)—A wooden ice box became a death trap for three young children yesterday.

Mrs. Ed Chastain, mother of two of the victims, found the youngsters when she returned home to prepare supper. They had been left to play while she chopped cotton in a nearby field.

Sheriff Joe Spades said the children were wedged tightly together in a small compartment of the refrigerator. The door was tightly fastened from the outside. No ice was in the box but food was in the compartments.

A preliminary autopsy showed the children died of suffocation, the sheriff reported.

James Delbert Chastain, two, and Shirley Ramsey, six, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Ramsey, one of Chastain's neighbors, were dead when the box was opened. Joyce Ann Chastain, nine, died early this morning in a clinic here.

Sgt. Wyatt L. Patrick of the state police criminal investigation division said officers are trying to determine whether the children locked themselves inside the foot-wooden box.

"We don't know how this happened," Patrick said, "but there are a lot of angles." He did not elaborate.

French Police Nab Anti-Red Plotters Armed With Guns

Paris, June 4 (AP)—Sixteen "anti-Communist plotters" were arrested by French police yesterday. Seized in the raid were four tommyguns, seven automatic pistols, and one rifle—all with ammunition.

Police did not explain the band's objectives, but said members had made contact with some army officers. Five of the men were charged with conspiracy to demoralize the army. Conviction on this charge can carry the death penalty.

They were Col. Jean Delore, 50, former underground fighter against the Germans, Jack Bateau, member of the Paris city council, Edouard and Gustave Thuault, garage men, and Pierre Le Forestier, a travelling salesman.

Some of the men were identified as followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, but spokesmen of the De Gaulles said they had warned their members to leave the anti-Red group and had tipped off the police to the band's activities.

Panel Completed To Settle Strike At Atomic Plant

Washington, June 4 (AP)—President Truman today completed organization of the special three-man labor relations panel authorized to settle disputes at atomic energy plants.

It already had a job cut out for it with a strike authorized at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

To serve with Chairman William H. Davis of New York, Mr. Truman appointed Dr. Edwin E. Witte, professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin and a former member of the War Labor Board, and Aaron Horwitz, New York lawyer and Labor Relations consultant.

Escanaba Area Has Air Force Quota Of 15 June Enlistees

Increased quotas for enlistments in the Air Force during the month of June have been announced by Lt. Col. Robert C. Hubbard, commanding officer of the eastern recruiting district.

The new quota is nearly double that for May and will allow 15 young men from this area to enlist in the Air Force during June, according to Sgt. Jack Scherer, ACCO-in-charge of the Escanaba Army and Air Force Recruiting Station.

Only those applicants for enlistment who are in the best physical condition and can score 90 or better on the general classification test will be accepted for enlistment, Sergeant Scherer said.

The Air Force enlistment program for June is directed mainly toward young high school graduates.

"High school graduates," he explained, "represent the high-type, intelligent young men needed for today's Air Force. We choose only the best," he said. "A young man who can qualify for enlistment in the Air Force has every reason to be proud."

Visitor From Narvik Tells Of Conditions In Norway

Food is 100 per cent more plentiful and more edible here than in Norway, Mrs. Inga Johansen, a survivor of the British bombing of Narvik, Norway, said while visiting here this week, with her aunt, Mrs. Lena Peterson of 216 South 17th street, her cousin, Mrs. Arthur Bolm of 609 Ludington street, and with her brother, Herman Iversen of Sagola.

Mrs. Johansen came to the United States for the first time a few weeks ago. She made the trip aboard the new Stockholm, and is very pleased to report that she did not become seasick.

She was met in New York by her brother, Conrad Iversen of Flint, a former Escanaba resident. She then went to Flint to visit with her family; to Ferndale to visit her brother, Carl and family; and to Detroit to visit her brothers, Ingvald and Harold Iversen and her sister, Mrs. Madge Juniper. Mrs. Juniper, who accompanied her to Upper Michigan, and Carl Iversen visited in Norway since the war with their sister. The other relatives, Mrs. Johansen had not seen in 40 years.

In 1909 Mr. and Mrs. Ingebrigt Iversen and their six children left Norway and came to make their home in Escanaba. Mrs. Johansen stayed in Norway because she was engaged to be married.

Meat Is Scarce

In Narvik, Mrs. Johansen, said shoes, coffee, milk, butter, sugar and meat are still rationed. The average person gets a pound of meat monthly, and preference is shown working persons.

While the Germans occupied the iron mining district, of which Narvik is the shipping center, all livestock was butchered for use of the Germans. Today very little meat is available locally, and all outside meat comes by boat. Farms were ruined and many men are no longer living to operate the farms.

Mrs. Johansen's husband, Hilmar, was killed in an air raid on Narvik.

Her home was bombed and she now lives in a new house with her son Kaare, a railroad mechanic. She has one other son, Alf, who is a machinist.

In recalling the rout of the Germans from Narvik, Mrs. Johansen said that the British ships moved in under camouflage at 4 a. m., April 9, 1941. They bombed and shelled the town of 9000 throughout the day. That night, over 1100 Narvik citizens, fled over the steep mountains and fjords. Many were killed. Some had old men and women packed in small carts and carried them up the mountain to safety.

Norway Is Rebuilding

Mrs. Johansen, her husband and sons and their families eventually boarded a Norwegian fishing tug, which in seven weeks brought them to her grandfather's estate on an island in the sea. Friendly farmers gave them shelter as they went from one village to another along the coast.

Norway is building up its towns, but many persons are still suffering, Mrs. Johansen said. The average weekly salary is about 100 crowns, enough probably to buy two pairs of shoes. The Norwegians hope that lend-lease from the United States will soon help them. Most Norwegians are living on fish and potatoes, she said.

When coming to the United States, a difficult move from Norway both because of the shortage of money and because the government is not too eager for citizens to leave, Mrs. Johansen was aided by her relatives here. She was allowed to bring with her only 50 crowns. An American dollar is worth 4.8 crowns.

Mrs. Johansen will leave to return on the Gripsholm, by way of Sweden, Aug. 12.

Board of Review Convenes Monday

NOTED GEYSER ON SCHEDULE

Old Faithful Performs Like Back In 1870

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., (SS)—Old Faithful, most famous of all geysers, is still performing on the same schedule it followed in 1870, when it was first carefully observed. It has the same interval between eruptions, plays to the same height, apparently discharges the same amount of water now as it did then.

Reports that the great natural hot-water spring is "losing its pep" simply aren't so, declares Dr. Philip F. Fix, formerly of the U. S. National Park Service and now of the U. S. Geological Survey. He bases his declaration on many measurements and recordings which he himself made during a seven-year period of service in the Park, and on records made by several other observers covering a total of 78 years of Old Faithful history.

Average interval between eruptions, for the entire period, is 65 minutes, six and a fraction seconds, Dr. Fix states. This is quite close to figures obtained by half-a-dozen competent observers in the 1870's when the Park was new. There is not the slightest evidence that Old Faithful is slowing down, with eruptions becoming less frequent.

Old Faithful is not, and never has been "as regular as a clock," despite earlier tall tales told to impress "dudes" from the East, he continued. There is always a slight irregularity in its timing, and sometimes the intervals between eruptions vary a good deal. Shortest interval on record was 34 minutes; longest authentically recorded lapse between eruptions was 91 minutes.

Height to which the column of hot water is thrown is difficult to determine, especially since different observers have used different methods. Estimated average heights therefore vary from 120 to 150 feet.

The volume of water discharged at each eruption has been much exaggerated in most estimates, Dr. Fix points out. A figure commonly given is 750,000 gallons per eruption; but this is many times too high. Fairly accurate gauging methods employed 20 years ago set a figure of from 10,000 to 12,000 gallons per eruption.

Details of Dr. Fix's observations are published in the American Journal of Science.

U. P. Cities Cool To W-C Proposal

IT is not difficult to comprehend why Upper Peninsula communities on the Wisconsin Central's proposed air route have declined to raise $150,000 to help finance the company's operations in the peninsula.

There is a general and steadily growing feeling in the peninsula that Wisconsin Central has not played it straight with U. P. communities. The airline sought and received the support of the peninsula cities to acquire its franchise. The company conveyed the idea then that it was prepared to launch service as soon as airport facilities were provided. Stimulated by this promise, the cities went ahead with expensive airport development projects. Most of the cities along the proposed route are now prepared for the airline service but the company is not prepared.

Wisconsin Central says that it needs $150,000 in stock or debenture sales in the Upper Peninsula before it can provide air service to the territory. The communities, as evidenced by expressions of sentiment at the meeting here Thursday, are more than cool to the proposal. They simply are opposed to the idea.

If Wisconsin Central had laid its cards on the table at the time it was seeking the CAA franchise it now possesses, the Upper Peninsula communities could have decided then and there whether to back the W-C franchise or wait for something better. As it is now, W-C has the franchise which it declines to exercise and the peninsula is holding the bag for the air service to Milwaukee and Chicago which was anticipated but which is not forthcoming.

TCC Revises Editorial Policy

THE Federal Communications commission Thursday reversed its position on radio station "editorializing" and decided that stations henceforth can present their viewpoint on public issues. Up to now the FCC has balked at the principle of an editorial policy for radio stations.

The FCC's new position on this issue is a reasonable one. The previous position was not. No other media of communication has been restricted in its authority to present editorial viewpoints. The FCC has been able to exercise this power because of its licensing authority. There are many people who feel that the FCC has gone far beyond the intent of congress in exercising specific controls over the radio industry.

Previously radio stations could employ so-called commentators or analysts who were privileged to voice personal viewpoints on public issues but the radio stations could not assume direct responsibility for such radio editorials. Some persons, like Colonel McCormick of the Chicago Tribune and Radio Station WGN, deliberately ignored the FCC ruling, apparently with no unpleasant repercussions.

The FCC's only requirement now concerning radio editorializing is that stations provide reasonable opportunity for contrary viewpoints on matters of public issue.

Traffic Safety Still Is Problem

PRESIDENT TRUMAN said Thursday that the system for examining auto drivers in many parts of the country are "scandalous." The president called attention to the fact that 32,000 persons were killed and more than 1,000,000 were injured in highway accidents in this country last year.

It is a well known fact that many states have been notoriously lax in the issuance of driver licenses. As the president indicated, even the insane can purchase a driver's license in Mr. Truman's home state of Missouri. The license costs only a quarter and can be purchased at a drug store.

Tighter license regulations will help the traffic safety problem, but it alone cannot prevent the appalling toll of lives in traffic accidents. A broad, continuing campaign of highway education is essential. Every motorist must be conscious of the need for caution and good sense in driving an automobile. Foremost is a need for general recognition that automobiles travel too fast. Just because an automobile may be capable of developing a speed of 90 miles an hour does not mean that drivers have to operate the vehicles at that speed. Unfortunately, too many drivers have not come to recognize that fact.

Twice this week within the city limits of Escanaba automobiles have been overturned because their drivers were operating them at unreasonable rates of speed. By good luck, no one was hurt in either of these mishaps but perhaps the next time the results will not be quite so fortunate.

Long Shot Bets

MOST people have a touch of the gambler in their make-up. But only a few go to extremes in wagering on the horses, the dice, the wheel, and other unbeatable games.

However, many millions do the most dangerous gambling in the world without knowing it. They risk their lives, their savings, their jobs, by taking unnecessary chances.

Gambling with fire is a perfect example. Do you pile up junk you don't know what to do with in closets and attics? Do you put off until tomorrow the repair of that frayed electric cord? When you lack a new fuse, do you put a penny behind a burned out one to restore the circuit? Do you luxuriate in bed with a cigarette going? Do you keep on using a heating system that doesn't seem quite as efficient as it ought to be, without calling in an expert to look it over? Do you store paint and solvents and other such flammables in any old open container that comes to hand? When you have a chance to learn about fire safety—as during Fire Prevention Week—do you open your mind to it or do you figure it's a dull business and no concern of yours?

A list such as this could be extended for many pages. These are just a few of the "long shot" bets that can result in a fire—and do exactly that on thousands upon thousands of occasions in this country each year. The result is more than 10,000 horrible deaths and a property loss of over $700,000,000.

Are these gambles worth it?

LILLIPUTIAN KNIGHT

There is something about the ruby-throated hummingbird that sets him apart. He cannot sing as do most other birds; his best effort is a thin, metallic squeak as he hovers over flowers and probes with his needle-pointed lance. But ruby-throat does not need music. He is one of the most beautiful of birds, a symphony of pastel greens, soft browns and flaming red. He's a tiny, fearless knight who asks no odds of bigger birds and gives none. There are more than 650 kinds of hummingbirds, but the ruby-throat is the only one east of the Mississippi. Pioneers debated whether it was a real bird or a bee from the West Indies.

Statistics regarding Archilochus colubris are interesting. His wings can beat 75 times a second, 4,500 a minute; he can hover almost motionless; he can fly backward. When the birds fly across the Gulf of Mexico's 500 miles of open water, if they average 50 miles an hour they use their wings 2,500,000 times without resting. The males arrive in cherry blossom time, a few days ahead of the ladies. Their courting antics are one of the outstanding air shows of the bird world. The knight performs intricate acrobatic stunts in the air; he charges his chosen lady like a buzz bomb and then stops a few inches from her and hovers for long moments. Then suddenly, he shoots 30 or 40 feet almost vertically into the air.

The nest is a beautiful creation, a tiny cup on a horizontal limb so perfectly camouflaged with bits of green - gray lichen with thistle-down or with wool from the sycamores. The two white eggs are about 1/4 inch long; the baby birds resemble big bumblebees. When the mother comes with nectar or insects, one shudders as she ruthlessly jobs her long bill into the throats of the babies. Now in June when the delphiniums and morning glories are blooming the hummingbirds come around. If a kingbird or catbird comes nosing around, the ruby throat darts at him without hesitation. In 1634, a William Wood wrote, "The Humbird is one of the wonders of the Country, being no bigger than a hornet. For colour she is as glorious as the Rainbow; as she flies, she makes a little humming noise like a humble-bee; wherefore she is called the Humbird." The Lilliputian sprites are a welcome part of the scene these sun-drenched days. Hovering over flowers, repelling intruders or occasionally preening on the clothes line, they bring a touch of tropical flavor to northern latitudes.—By Haydn Pearson.

RAMBLING AMONG WORDS

I have devoted several columns to the new and zany craze for misusing the words "nostalgia" and "nostalgic." I have emphasized that nostalgia means "a morbid or psychotic longing to return home," and that nostalgic means "homesickness," nothing more, nothing less.

We do not need to review the many ludicrous examples of the misuse which I have quoted from time to time. But to complete our record of the popular reductio ad absurdum, let us give due attention to the latest ridiculousity.

Mrs. Homer Hill, of Hollywood, has sent a newspaper ad of an exclusive shop for women. The ad features a nightgown of sheer white rayon crepe for—now get this: "the wedding night of the sweet spring bride." The gown is titled in black-faced type: ROMANTIC NOSTALGIA!

Now I ask you. . . . Has it ever occurred to you that we need but two letters—"e" and "s"—to turn applause into appelausage? There's a moral there if you think about it for a moment.

What's the origin of the phrase "thumbs down" as an expression of disapproval? One theory advanced by the syndicated cartoonist who deals in unbelievable curiosa is that "thumbs up" is supposed to point or refer to heaven, and that "thumbs down" suggests the inferno. The theory is nonsense.

"Thumbs down" is simply a translation of the Latin police verso, "with thumb turned (downward) or reversed," pronounced: POL-i-see VUR-soe.

Honesty Needed In Atomic Probe

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—So thick is the political fog that even a thorough and honest investigation may not bring out sufficient facts to enable the public to form any opinion about the status of the atomic energy project. In the gathering murk mysterious figures move on mysterious errands and the net result is to step up the atomic jitters that increasingly afflict the nation.

The senators attacking Chairman David Lilienthal of the atomic energy commission seem to have been caught off base. They apparently feel compelled to back up the sweeping charges made by Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa. And to do that they must concentrate not on the broad performance record of the AEC but on certain incidents which had already been "leaked" to a section of press and radio deeply hostile to the commission chairman. Congressional jealousies and suspicions have a lot to do with the controversy—more than the public has yet been told. Those jealousies and suspicions should be brought into the open.

McMAHON MADE CHARGES

When Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecticut took command of the congressional committee on atomic energy, after the Democratic victory of last November, he made certain changes. One of his first acts was to replace Fred B. Rhodes, Jr., technical director of the committee under the Republicans, and Rhodes' assistant, David S. Teeple. Both Rhodes and Teeple had been with Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves in the Manhattan project from the beginning of the wartime effort to split the atom.

In Rhodes' place McMahon appointed William L. Borden, a World War II flyer, veteran of 30 millions over Europe and five times decorated. Borden, top man in his Yale law school class, immediately after the war wrote a book on atomic energy, called, "There Will Be No Time." This profoundly impressed McMahon and led to the appointment.

Some senators remained strong advocates of Rhodes, who is now with the central intelligence agency, and Teeple, now with U. S. air force intelligence. Close contact was maintained between the former committee experts and their senate partisans who believe that the dismissal of Rhodes and Teeple endangered atomic security.

So close is that contact that Democratic members of the committee see in it an important phase of what they consider a deliberate plot to discredit Lilienthal. They trace the "leaks" to this source and, if they have their way, Rhodes and Teeple will be called to testify in the investigation.

NATION'S BUSINESS ARTICLE

The anti-Lilienthal suspicion is reflected in an article in the current issue of Nation's Business, published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The author of the piece—called "Is The A-Bomb Secure?"—is William Bradford Huie who in the Reader's Digest has made himself the most articulate and extreme advocate of air power as opposed to sea power. Huie says:

"When, as the result of the Democratic victory in 1948, Senator McMahon replaced Senator Hickenlooper as chairman of the congressional committee, Senator McMahon's first action was to displace the committee's two veteran intelligence agents, thus abolishing the check-and-balance function of the congressional committee. For without its own machinery for checking and investigating, the committee can't be a watchdog; it can only consider the reports given it by the commission."

The article says that for two years Lilienthal and "the military" have argued over custody of atomic bombs. The intimation is that Lilienthal has blocked the training of "adequate" air force personnel to assemble and detonate the bomb.

On the other side of the fence Lilienthal's congressional friends consider the current attack as an effort really to restore control over the entire atomic energy project to the military establishment. Hickenlooper has denied that this is his intention.

But Sen. Harry Cain of Washington, who often embarrasses his Republican colleagues by calling a spade a spade, promptly put in a bill to take control of atomic energy from civilians and give it back to men in uniform. There can be no doubt that Cain's frank gesture expresses the goal of some of Lilienthal's attackers.

"Secrecy is not security," said Hanson W. Baldwin, military correspondent of the New York Times in a searching article on the Lilienthal controversy, "nor is the bomb an impenetrable rampart. Security is things and people, and bombs, weapons and research and bases, intangibles as well as tangibles. Security, above all, is spirit and morale and progressive, advanced and imaginative thinking, and secrecy is the enemy of these."

An honest investigation would help to cure the atomic jitters and break through the shroud of mystery and melodrama. But no one at this writing can be very hopeful that it will do that.

Police verso was the sign used by spectators at the Roman gladiatorial games in condemning a vanquished gladiator to death at the hands of his adversary.

It is doubtful that the sign "thumbs up" was used in sparing the life of the defeated gladiator.

In almost every mail this question is received: To, too, and two are pronounced alike. How can one write, "There are three —s in the English language?"

It cannot be written accurately in that exact wording, for obviously the meaning would not be clear by using "to's," "too's" or "two's."

This is an old trick classroom question. The only way it can be worded is something to this effect: There are three words in English that are pronounced like "too"—to, too and two.

Return of the Prodigal's Son

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

BRAINPOWER—It has been tough sledding for the psychiatrists and the psychologists these last few weeks. The public print has revealed some of them to be slightly less than competent in the management of their personal affairs. In fact, their actions border on the daft.

There is the recent case of the psychiatrist who has not spoken to his wife since 1944, and eats his meals in his bedroom. His wife, who is suing him for divorce, claims he eats steak. She eats macaroni in the dining room.

In another case a psychologist was returned from a western city in company with his wife's sister, a maiden lady of 56, with notions of romance creeping into the enchanted night. The psychologist's defense is that she is a case in which he is only professionally interested. His wife thinks otherwise.

ADDLED—The cartoonists and the movies invariably picture the psychiatrist as a dignified individual with a pensive look and eyeglasses, who draws from his patients' figments of recollection which he pieces together into something tangible—like they do not care for plum pudding at Christmas.

Frustrations, complexes and neuroses are peeled off layer by layer until the psychiatrist gets to the heart of the trouble. Knowing what is wrong (like the antipathy to plum pudding) he proceeds to reveal to the patient that the reason he (the patient) beats his wife with a Christmas tree is because he does not like plum pudding. Knowing this, the patient happily returns to his home and beats the plum pudding with the Christmas tree. His wife still thinks his actions peculiar.

MANAGEMENT—It is a sad state of affairs when the mental wizards are exposed as being unable to cope with their own family difficulties. You would think they would know, by training and experience, how to avoid all of the pitfalls along the matrimonial pathway. They have counseled countless others, they have spread good advice like fertilizer on pastures, and they reveal they cannot manage a fractious wife or an unruly child in their own household.

It is reasonable to ask why they fail. The answer is that an ocean separates our understanding of the problems of others, and our own problems. Most of us are willing to hand out advice, free or otherwise, to others. We can usually see the faults of others—but none of our own.

So it is with the psychiatrist and the psychologist. There is no one who would venture to tell them they should go and have their heads examined.

SPARE THE ROD—The children of an earlier generation were the kind who were seen but not heard, who did not speak unless spoken to, and who had more or less respect for their elders.

Largely through the influence of the trained expert in behaviorism many parents have come more to fear a fixation or a frustration in their young than they fear insolence and insubordination. Better Little Johnny should kick Aunt Matilda in the shins than to command "No" in a loud, stern voice. Aunt Matilda will be only temporarily in a wheelchair—but think of the harm you might do to Johnny's rascally personality.

Long after Aunt Matilda has been given a decent burial Little Johnny (now presumably adult) will be kicking his way through life with an utter disregard for the feelings and rights of others. Never having been taught to respect any authority, he eventually runs afoul of the law and discipline is applied—too late.

GENTLE DOES IT—Contrary to some opinion, we believe that children feel happier and safer when they know their parents are in authority. When this authority is exercised with loving kindness, or with firmness, as the occasion requires, there is the basis for mutual respect and understanding.

NOT TOO FAR—Parents who follow the rule of common sense are more likely to succeed as parents than those who go into the business with a lot of pre-conceived notions and theories. Perhaps that is one reason the psychiatrist and psychologist have so much trouble with their family problems.

The average parent, not being an expert, develops as a parent as his children grow. The parent and the child gain knowledge together. In contrast, the "book expert" on juvenile behavior presumably knows all the answers in the beginning—and wonders why he fails in the application of his "rules." His is a case of arrested development. Parents in general—and their children in particular—will benefit by a less academic approach to human relationships.

Community Building

Dear Editor:

Much has been said in recent months, in fact during the past couple of years, about a community building for Escanaba. It seems that the project is all talk and no action, or perhaps I'm wrong. Can anyone bring me about to date about what is planned in the way of a community building for this town?

Inquisitive.
(Editor's Note: Nothing at all has jelled regarding any plans for a community building. It has been suggested that such a project be developed as a living war memorial. Just what such a building would include and how it would be financed are unsettled questions. The Forum would welcome views of various local people on this subject.)

Let's Show Our Wares

Dear Editor:

Recently I noticed an interesting exhibit of the gloves manufactured by the Escanaba Glove company on display at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office window. I didn't realize that such fine goods of this type were being made here. Wouldn't it be a good idea to show the products of other manufacturing concerns? Maybe we would appreciate the wide variety of industries we have in Escanaba if we could see more exhibits of the articles that are produced here. Give our local industries a boost.

Proud Citizen.

(Editor's Note: The winner of the $1 prize for the best letter of the week in this column will be announced in Monday's issue of the Daily Press. A new contest begins Monday. Send your letters to the Public Forum, Daily Press. Letters up to 250 words in length are acceptable.)

We'll Celebrate

Dear Editor:

Three cheers to the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce. It is good to know that someone is interested in putting on a Fourth of July celebration for Escanaba. For years, Escanaba has been taking a back seat when it comes to celebrating the Fourth. We have to do something to keep the old town on the map.

Appreciative.

So They Say

I feel deeply that the Republicans, in pursuing this wicked policy of a coalition against human rights and dignity, are digging their own graves.—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D) of Michigan, commenting on GOP senators joining forces with Southern Democrats to defeat anti-filibuster legislation.

I have tried my level best to carry that burden (the presidency) in the interest of all the people of the country, and I hope that when the history of the period is written it will be said that the effort was not in vain.—President Truman.

You can't run a circus or a business or the national defense by committees. You must have someone who has a final yes or no. There must be a boss. We're spending too much money for the national defense we are getting today. There is no doubt of that in my mind.—Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—The eight top economists who compose the real working brains of the council of economic advisers have just submitted a secret five-page memorandum to their chiefs—Dr. Edwin Nourse, John Clark and Leon Keyserling. The memorandum was then prompted by the council's failure to present a clear picture of the nation's economy to the president several weeks ago.

In view of this failure, the eight economists have now spelled out the fiscal facts of life, and hope it may eventually reach the president. The analysis is most important because it represents pure economic thinking, whereas the council's reports to Truman are always diluted and distorted by the power politics and jealousies of the three-man board.

Here are the main points contained in the confidential report:

1. The government will be faced with a deficit next year even if Truman gets his four-billion-dollar tax increase. Lowest estimated deficit even with the tax increase is two billions.

2. The government simply cannot make significant cuts in federal expenditures in view of the large proportion of fixed costs, i. e., interest on debt, the military establishment and veterans administration. Budget-cutters will have to confine themselves to the six to eight billion dollars allocated for reclamation, farm programs and the civilian agencies of government. And congress just can't squeeze any significant funds out of the latter. They were pruned to the bone during the war.

SLOWING ECONOMY

3. It is quite evident that the American economy is slowing down, and if we strain at this time to avoid a deficit—a goal which cannot be achieved, anyway—we will be walking right into a serious economic decline because:

- (a) If we try to avoid a deficit by increasing taxes, we deflate the economy—by taking money away from consumers, leaving them with less purchasing power; or

- (b) If we try to avoid a deficit by curtailing federal expenditures, it will decrease the flow of money through the economy. This, in turn, will add to the speed with which we go into a depression.

4. The economists pointed out that even today—while government expenditures are going up—the economy is slipping down. Curtailing government expenditures at this time would simply force it into a more rapid decline.

The economists concluded with the warning that the government must place first things first and that the important thing to avoid is a business recession. A deficit, they said, is of only secondary importance.

"We will be in good shape, they argued, if we develop a small deficit and thus avoid a depression. However, it would be tragic to try to avoid a small deficit and thereby throw ourselves into a 200-billion dollar depression."

Significantly, the government's eight top economists agreed to this report unanimously. Political considerations played no part in their decisions. Until this morning, it had not reached the White House. Perhaps someone will give Mr. Truman a copy of the Washington Post so he can read it today.

LADY TAKES OFF GLOVES

Members of congress customarily don't cast too much aspersions on each other. Also, a lady congressman is supposed to be demure, winsome, and follow the leadership of the males.

However, California's Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, who is as smart as she is beautiful, has chucked all this folderol aside and really taken off the gloves with the senior senator from California—Sheridan Downey.

In a memo circulated to California leaders, Mrs. Douglas has pretty much shown up the senator for what he is—a turncoat on his campaign promises.

She hit the alleged Democrat from California where it hurt most—by recalling the manner in which he climbed into the senate as a California ham-and-egger. In those days, opportunist Downey was the personal counsel for Dr. Townsend of old-age pension fame. But forgetting his one-time great solicitude for the poor and the aged, Downey recently held up federal money for 2,500,000 old people, 1,200,000 dependent children, and 86,000 blind—all because of his fight for the big power and farm interests of California.

BAREFOOT SENATOR PUTS ON SHOES

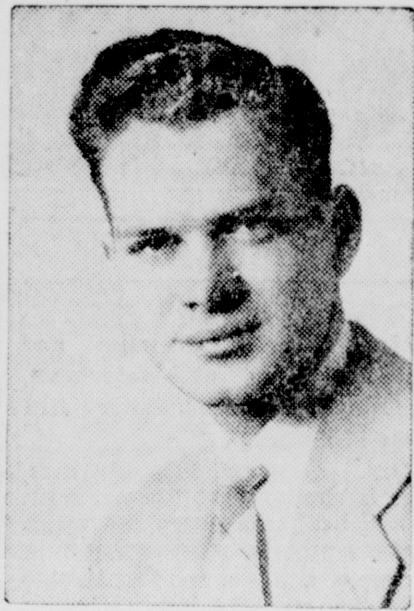

Mrs. Douglas didn't put it in these words, but Downey, once the barefoot senator from California, has now become a rampant and prosperous defender of California's big interests.

But she did point to the ludicrous fact that, 25 years ago, when the Republicans wanted to defeat the 160-acre limitation on federal reclamation land, they kicked out another commissioner of reclamation, Arthur Powell Davis—on the grounds that he was an engineer! Real reason, of course, was that he was strictly enforcing the 160-acre limitation.

But in 1948-49, Senator Downey and Republican friends reversed this tactic in effect and provided that neither Commissioner of Reclamation Mike Strauss nor his California deputy, Richard Boke, could hold office because they were not engineers. Like Davis, they also were enforcing the law.

And when the current house of representatives overruled Downey and the G. O. P., Downey then threatened a filibuster, and did hold up payments to the old people he once championed for two months while the pay bill was stuck in conference.

"Senator Downey," concludes Mrs. Douglas, "was more concerned with winning the fight for the private power interests and the corporate farmers than with seeing government checks go out to 2,500,000 old people, 1,240,000 dependent children, 86,000 blind and 15,000 federal workers."

M. S. C. GRADUATES—Among Escanaba students who will be graduated at commencement exercises to be held at Michigan State college early this month are, left to right, Eunice Nelson, John Colbert, James L'Heureux and George Wind. Miss Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nelson of 1001 Lake Shore drive, will receive a bachelor of science degree with a major in zoology. She completed her studies in March. Colbert, son of Boyle Back-Tracks In The Old E.T.O.

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—A letter to any veteran:

Did you ever want to go back, soldier?

Do you wonder sometimes what it is like now in those foreign places where you spilled your youth, and perhaps some blood, in the years of war and waste?

Well, soldier, I'm going back. I've got a two-week furlough to rendezvous with what's gone by. Where did you lose your youth? Tell me, and I'll look for it. Maybe I lost mine there, too, in the same crowded hour. I sure mislaid it somewhere.

Backtracking the war is too big a job for any one person. It was a long war in a wide world, and no man saw it all. But danger, excitement and boredom usually taste the same in different places. It isn't the scenery you remember so much as how you felt. All foxholes got so they looked alike.

The foxholes I'm going back to are in Europe. Were you there, too, soldier?

Can I help peel off some of the past for you? What shall I tell the girls in Piccadilly Circus? Is there someone you want me to look up for you in the cemetery that looks down on Omaha Beach? They say there isn't a red stain on the sands there now, and once there were so many. And a man lying on every stain.

It's June again in the Normandy hedgerows, soldier. Five years don't make much difference to hedgerows. But how the world has changed for the men who fired across them at each other in 1944!

How odd it will be to see live cows grazing in the fields outside St. Lo. Remember, soldier, how it seemed like every cow you saw was dead? And they lay in the shell-pitted pastures with their stiff legs stuck in the air like bloated toy rubber balloons.

The road into St. Lo winds past a calvario factory. It's probably repaired by now. I'll toast you in raw calvario, brother, and you remember that stuff. One drink, one day off your life.

Hello For Ghosts

And then, of course, comes Paris, the glory foxhole of all time. The day we went in there the town went crazy, and no Yank could spend a dollar. Bet you can now, hey soldier?

There will be lots of stops along the way. Rheims and Spa and Luxembourg. And others with names a man couldn't pronounce—and now doesn't want to.

One I have in mind is the Hurtgen Forest, not so far inside Germany as we'd hoped to be when we got there. Remember the dark tall trees and the half-light, soldier? Oh, it was a forest of dead men, that place was, when we got through it at last and came out and saw the sky again.

Then we're going on to Frankfurt and Berlin, where they are putting brick back on brick again and talking of "the new Germany." They aren't Krauts or Huns or Nazis any more, soldier. They're all Germans again—and peace, isn't it wonderful? It is while it lasts. But it can wear out mighty quick.

Well, soldier, I guess we all have changed as much as the battlefields. There isn't much use in trying to go back to anything in life, but everybody keeps right on trying. Maybe in the next two weeks I'll see a few old ghosts of something we used to know.

And if I do, I'll say hello—and tell them you wish them well.

Towering Pines Form Canopy For J. L. LeDuc's 12-Room Lannon Stone Home Near Indian Lake

A 40-acre tract of land near Indian Lake, in Schoolcraft county, is the setting for this 12-room, one-story house built since the war for J. L. LeDuc of Manistique.

Broad, tall white pines form a canopy for the house, constructed of Lannon stone.

The house was designed with an eye for the beauty of the surrounding. Five large picture windows open in the front and back and numerous over-size windows give broadness and lightness in the home.

Both the living room and the dining rooms have picture windows in two walls. All of them can be covered with sliding wall drapes. Indirect lighting predominates in the living and dining rooms. In the living room tall table lamps accent furniture and draperies.

The three fireplaces—in the master bedroom, living room and basement recreation room—are built of stone and enclosed with special framed glass. The glass withstands over 600 degrees of heat, and keeps smoke and sparks within the fireplace. Mrs. LeDuc, the former Margaret Sandberg of Manistique says it is also a safeguard for their three children, Jan, Michael and Vonciel.

All floors are made with light varnished hardwood. Woodwork for the solid panel doors and window casings are in matching tones. Walls in the bedrooms and living and dining rooms are plastered. In the kitchen, utility rooms and bathrooms, steel tile was used at the base and pastel shades of plastered wall meet it midway.

Each bedroom has a private bath, similarly walled with tile and plaster, and each has built-in wardrobes, designed by Mrs. LeDuc. Twin beds in the boy's rooms are accented with green and red furnishings. All of the children's bedrooms are spacious and decorated with children's pictures and furniture.

Two Recreation Rooms

The kitchen and utility rooms are lined with wall cabinets, and have heavy inlaid floor coverings. Corner windows, flanked with glass brick, give a modern look to the rooms.

Distinctive furniture has been used throughout the house. Upholstered chairs are twice as big as the usual type, and hassocks run anywhere from 2 feet to four feet in diameter. A six section davenport lines one living room wall, and on the opposite side are a grand piano and large leather covered chairs.

In the basement a large playroom for the children is lined with cabinets and special devices to amuse children. The adult recreation room contains a small round bar, rustic tables and chairs, a recording set-up and a lighted scene of Fayette shoreline. The oil furnace sets to the side and rear. Knotty pine with white lead finish was used to wall the basement.

Later, the LeDuc's plan to build a large stone terrace leading from the dining room into the back yard of hardwood and pine trees. Already trilliums grow within 25 feet of the house. They will be encouraged to grow abundantly about the terrace, and about 1000 daffodils will be planted. Arbutus is also abundant in the area. As much as possible natural flowers in their wild settings will be used.

High Comfort Rating

The LeDuc's moved into their new house last November. It was completed shortly afterwards. Previously they lived in Manistique, where Mr. LeDuc owns and operates two picture theaters. He began by showing short movies on individual bookings in Gwin and other small U. P. towns. He purchased the Oak theater seven years ago, and started the Cedar 11 years ago.

Mrs. LeDuc designed the house from blue prints of a prize winning house. A national magazine for homeowners once considered photographing the interior and exterior of the house, to accompany a full length story on the home.

This house is one of the most costly built in the area in many years. It has a high comfort rating and is unique. One can sit in almost any of its spacious rooms, and have a whole panorama of outdoor beauty extending before him.

Committee Meets On Lure Book At Marquette June 17

The Lure Book committee of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, named by James J. Beckman, president, following action at a meeting of the executive committee in April, will meet in Marquette June 17.

Specifically formed for the purpose of reviewing the Bureau's advertising program through its own publications, the committee will consider possible changes in the present Lure Book and other tourist and resort literature published by the organization. Under consideration is the recommendation of the U. P. Winter Sports Council that a so-called "winter sports lure book" be printed and distributed every fall.

"Besides studying the publication of literature designed to stimulate the resort and travel industry," Beckman said, "this committee will be asked to go over all the publicity and financial problems of this organization. Advertising in the Lure Book, of course, plays a large part in both of these problems."

The meeting will be held in the council chambers in the city hall and present will be these members of the special committee: G. Harold Earle, Hermansville; Lawrence Tucker, Iron Mountain; Howard Billings, Iron River; Jean Worth, Menominee; D. E. Crocker, Ontonagon; John I. Keeton, Munising; W. L. Burns, Ironwood; John D. Morrison, Marquette; Don Smith, Iron Mountain; Phil DeGraff, Trout Lake; and John Merrifield, Sault Ste. Marie.

House Plan Follows Cape Cod Tradition

Statistics show that of all new residential construction in the United States last year, about 35 per cent were homes Colonial in design, with Cape Cod houses prominent therein.

At the same time, many architects declare, many a house labelled Cape Cod in style is far from being true to type.

In accurately designing a Cape Cod cottage attention must be paid to many details, they point out. Balance between length and breadth of the building is important if good roof lines are to result. First floor level should be set close to the ground. Height from finished floor to finished floor should be just right. Window spacing should balance. And particular attention must be paid to location, size and height of dormers of the second floor.

A Cape Cod design that seems to qualify in all these respects is "The Portland," one of the plans of the Home of the Week Plan Service, shown on this page today. Here the beauty of the Colonial home is well duplicated in a modern residence.

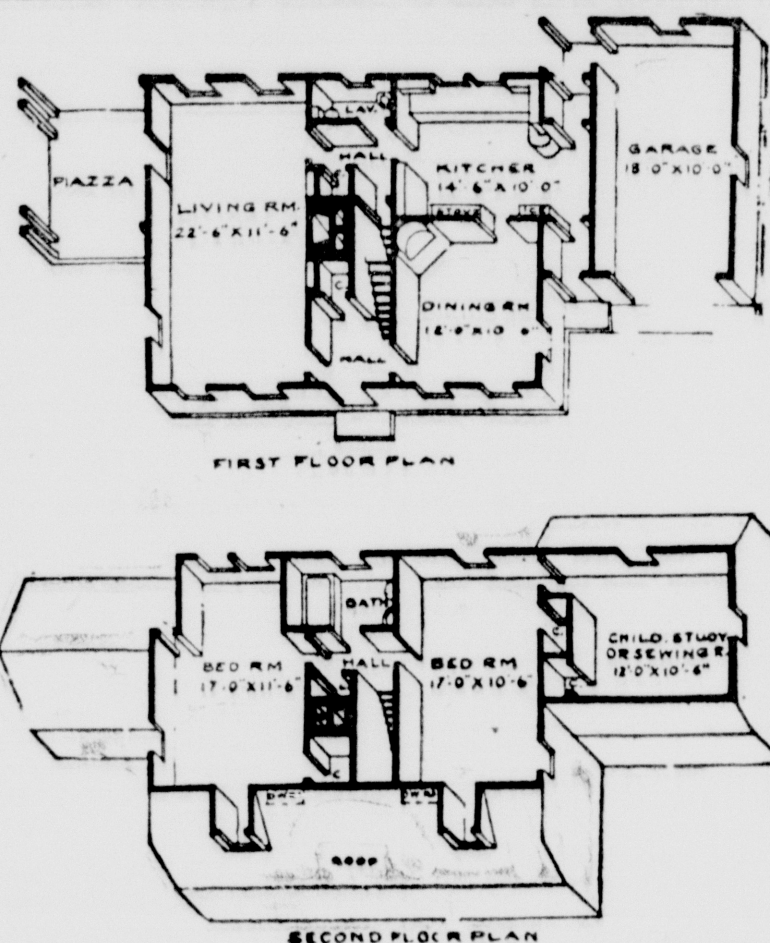

C cornice Treatment

Embellishment of the cornice, created by use of a built-in gutter, decorates the front elevation. This cornice treatment is continued on the porch and garage wings. The well-balanced windows on the front of the house are set off by shutters painted to contrast with the white-painted shingles of the exterior walls. The dormers are in excellent balance and of correct height. Even the copper downspout at each end of the house, help create a sense of "balance."

From its "Christian-door" hung in plastered entrance, to the "Troy band" atop the central chimney The Portland is truly Colonial in atmosphere.

The main house measures 24x30 and has a cubage of 17,280 feet. Addition of the porch, garage and the vestibule connecting the latter with the main house increases total cubage of the dwelling to 22,000 feet.

For a site with small frontage, the porch could be placed at the rear of the dwelling. It is also suggested that finishing off the third bedroom on the second floor, over the garage, could be delayed until a later time if owners so desired. But the passageway leading to this future room would best be completed at the time of original construction of the house. Like-wise insulation of the entire roof area, as well as of space above the garage ceiling, should be done when first building is the architect's recommendation.

Large Living Room

The front entrance opens into an entry hall from which stairs lead direct to the second floor. Beside the stairs is a coat closet. If desired, a door at the top of the stairs could be hung, to shut off stair-well draughts.

At the left of the hall is the spacious living room, made light and airy by five windows and a glazed door opening on the porch. The porch, incidentally, could be

Gives Wood
Antique Effect

To gain an antique effect on stained woods, what is known as smut coating is often applied. This smut coating may consist of Triple F powdered pumice stone combined with turpentine and a small amount of varnish. The mixture is applied to unfilled, unstained wood and left untouched for half an hour after which it is wiped away with a soft cloth so that all that remains is in the grain or the checks of the wood.

The more open the grain of the wood, the more satisfactory the results will be, so that wire-brushed oak or woods which have had the grain opened by scorching with a blow torch or by sand-blasting are most desirable for accepting a smut finish.

Another type of smut or antique finish which leaves a slightly roughened surface is a mixture of glazing liquid or flaking oil combined with powdered rottenstone. This finish is applied between coats of varnish, the main surface being wiped off while the corners and depressed portions retain the smut.

MEASURE FOR SHINGLES

Shingles are measured in "squares." A square is the quantity of shingles required to cover 100 square feet of roof area.

for choice tomes. At the far end of the room, a door leads to a passageway to the kitchen. Off this passage a lavatory is located; opposite it, a broom closet and a door opening on stairs to the basement.

At the right of the front entry hall is the dining room; this room having a built-in china cabinet. A double-swinging door connects with the kitchen, a large and well planned room on the rear of the house.

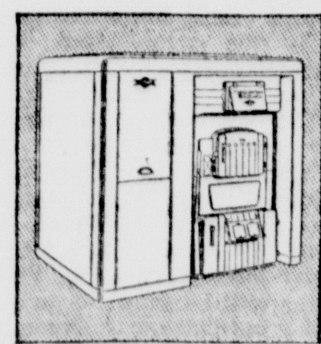

The second floor plan shows two nice bedrooms, with bath, plenty of closet space, large den, study or child's room over garage.

Clear Lake Girl Scout Camp Opening Date Is August 1

Announcement is made of the dates of the Clear Lake Girl Scout Camp which will open August 1 and close August 21, a seven day week, three week camping period. Miss Lorraine Palmer of Chicago has been engaged as camp director. The Clear Lake camp is located between Munising and Marquette on M-94, the U. S. Forest Service Camp.

Fliers, giving all details of the camp program, fees, etc. will be distributed in the schools Monday, June 6. Any registered Girl Scout in the county above Browne age may attend. Registration blanks are attached to the flier and must be filled out and returned to Mrs. Arthur Fillion at the Fillion Shoe Store. All registrations will be accepted in the order received until the deadline date, July 1, or until the camp quota is filled.

The dates of the camp were the only dates available inasmuch as Northern Michigan College of Education at Marquette has leased ed Clear Lake from the U. S. Forest Service for the summer, and they are using the camp for summer sessions of the college. Heretofore the Girl Scout Camp has been held in July.

The camp will be operated on Established Camp standards. There will be a trained nurse, an experienced cook, a waterfront instructor, counselors, and assistant counselors, with an adult counselor for every ten girls in camp. The Delta County Girl Scout Council was fortunate in obtaining Miss Palmer to direct the camp. She has had years of camp training and experience. The program this year promises to be the finest possible.

Camp Training
The camp fee covers all cost of camp with the exception of transportation, the latter to be furnished by the parents of the girls attending. There will be three meals a day, all camp program material and all incidentals of camp included in the weekly fee.

Local people who will assist Miss Palmer will receive camp training at Timber Trail beginning June 26. The training will be given by Mrs. Byron Nielson.

A dinner will be served after play, followed by cards. The committee in charge will be Mrs. G. E. Christie, chairman, assisted by Mesdames Jerome, Leo Brunelle, Ben Douglas, and Whitney Dixon and Miss Alida Dupont.

Clumsiness Is Serious Charge

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The most serious indictment of a woman's charms is made when you say that she is clumsy.

As serious as this charge is, no one who travels on crowded public conveyances or walks into crowded buildings can fail to level it at many women.

A man's clumsiness is quite often excused. A woman's never is. There seems to be more of an obligation upon a woman's part to discipline her hands and feet.

The woman who hasn't educated her hands not to jab bus passengers with her umbrella or her feet not to trample over every thing in her path as she teeters down the aisle needs badly to train these clumsy members.

The need would be to realize that hands and feet are pushovers for mischief, unless their owner watches over them. Control over any wild tendencies to jab other people or step on them is necessary until a woman can feel confident of the good behavior of her feet and hands in crowded places, and again in the more intimate social gatherings where their bad behavior is certain to annoy friends.

In making scrambled eggs do not overbeat the eggs; beat just until the yolks and whites are mixed. Have the butter or margarine in the skillet in which they are to be cooked very hot. Then lower the heat when the eggs are added.

Library Adventure

By Arnold Mulder

The serious illness of John Masfield directs attention once more to the position he holds in British political life—that of poet laureate. In the old days when royalty was more than a name, when a king still had at least the semblance of power, there was some slight sense to the office of poet laureate. Under socialism it is an anachronism so pronounced that it is amazing the British sense of humor has not caught up with the joke.

The word "laureate" of course originally meant "crowned with laurel." In ancient times the person who won the poetry contest was not rewarded with the cash prizes and refrigerators and automobiles that the successful coiners of jingles today get; a wreath of laurel was placed on his head to prove to the masses that he was the king of the poets; it was a kind of mock-kingship, with the inexpensive laurel substituted for gold and precious stones. Even the ancients did not think it worth while to pay their poets in real coin.

In early English history the office of poet laureate was instituted for the glory and benefit of the king rather than for that of the poet. Those kings sometimes were illiterate; at best, even if they could read and write, they were likely to be shaky in their grammar and spelling. But for that reason they were all the more anxious to convince the world that they were big shots.

So they ordered their poets to sing their praises in verses. In course of time the singer who was most adept at flattering his royal master was given the most favors. Still later that preferment developed into a political office; he was appointed by royal decree as the king's official flatterer in verse. An imaginary wreath of laurel was placed on his head.

The office never made any poet rich, but at first there was some slight emolument connected with it. And of course the prestige was usually worth quite a good deal in actual pounds sterling; snob interest has always been such that millions will buy the poetry of a dunce who holds the office of poet laureate who would not dream of paying out money for the work of a truly great poet who is only a private citizen.

The dunces in the office have been fairly numerous. Of one of them, in the eighteenth century, John Dryden said:

"The rest of some slight meaning make pretense, But Shadwell never deviates into sense."

That was exaggeration, but much of the time the poets laureate have been minor poets, men who were completely forgotten 10 years after they died. Thus at a time when Rudyard Kipling and Thomas Hardy, truly great poets, were living, the office was held by a nonentity named Alfred Austin, a man who was virtually forgotten even before he died.

Occasionally the office has been held by a truly great poet. John Masfield is such a poet. Then also, there was Wordsworth, and later Tennyson. But the office never added any distinction to the name of a poet who was authentically great; we don't honor them because they held this political office but because they wrote great poetry. On the other hand, the office never preserved the name of a dunce or of a minor poet. Such men are promptly forgotten in spite of the distinction their government conferred upon them.

The office is an anachronism in modern life, first because kings and governments no longer need poets to herald their deeds. They have much better instruments in newspapers and radio. The laureateship is an institution that had some meaning in the middle ages. It is still with us simply because men are always slow to bury decently the corpses of their outmoded institutions.

Movies Closed Up By Amusement Tax

Ligonier, Pa., (AP)—This summer resort town of 2,500 is without movies.

Owners of the community's two theaters locked them up tight when Borough officials put a ten per cent amusement tax into effect.

Alex and James Alexis boarded up the front of the Ligonier, a ten-year old movie house which cost $100,000 to build. Alvin Seiler shut the Vox, a second run theater.

Across the front of the Ligonier was spread a sign:

"We are closed to protest against discriminatory taxes on the theater going public."

The Alexis brothers and Seiler said they won't reopen until the tax is repealed.

The Borough council will hear a petition from citizens that the tax be abolished.

This is the Borough's second "amusement strike" in a month. The Ligonier alleys, a nine-lane bowling hall, closed May 1 when council ordered a new $50 a year tax. The alleys are still closed.

Long Race Begins For Governorship

By JACK I. GREEN

Lansing, (P)—They're off in the 1950 governor's sweepstakes.

It'll be a long race—18 months, in fact.

Governor Williams broke under the wire first this week with two rip-roaring attacks on the Republicans at two labor union conventions.

Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., sidled out of the chute a lot more modestly than his old racer, Azucar, ever did. However, he got started down towards the first post with a public announcement that the next governor would be mighty unpopular but that he was willing to "sacrifice" himself if necessary.

State Treasurer D. Haie Brake was up in the van. No one saw him start when the barrier went up but he was out there determinedly flogging his trusty nag "fundamental government."

Some lady with a big hat is blocking the view and we can't see yet who the other starters are.

Look, is that Gene Keyes? Is that Gene Blake? Well, we can tell in a minute.

But this is serious business. These men—and others probably—want to be the next governor of the commonwealth of Michigan.

Williams is setting a fast pace, especially for a new colt. But he's young and if he can stay ahead for a turn or so he may discourage some of the older runners in the rear.

The Republicans have given Williams plenty of fuel for his race, and he is burning it.

In a pungent speech at Jackson this week he took out the Republican legislative record and rubbed the G. O. P. noses in it.

To a lot of Republicans, including Brake and Alger, it didn't smell too good.

Neither of them according to reports, agreed entirely with the Republican legislative policy, but like Dewey and the 80th Congress they probably will have to carry the 65th legislature around their necks.

The more Republican strategists look at the recent legislative session the more uncomfortable they get. By refusing to capture new taxes and face the state's impending deficit they have given Williams a mighty campaign weapon.

All indications now are that the legislature will have to return within nine months and vote more taxes.

When it does it gives Williams a perfect opportunity to cry "I told you so." And in an election year at that.

The political railbirds don't quite follow Alger's theory that the Republicans will be blamed for any new tax voted next year—such as Williams' corporation income tax.

They reason that since Williams advocated it repeatedly, condemned the Republicans for not passing it and will put it up to them again in the future, the tax—if passed—will remain Williams' tax in the public mind.

In fact, the G. O. P. reactions to the tax issue appear confused. They argue that the public doesn't want any new taxes, so they refuse to make Williams unpopular. Then they argue that if they pass his tax next year they will make themselves unpopular.

The governor appears ready to ape President Truman's least campaign, with the 65th legislature the whipping boy instead of the 80th Congress.

In doing so, however, he has gone a little beyond the record.

At Grand Rapids this week he spoke of how increased unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation were forced through a hostile Republican legislature.

Williams seems to forget that the Republican bills to do those things were on the drafting boards before the legislature started, that the G. O. P. leadership went into the session determined to push them through and that at no time did the Republican chiefs ever seriously consider not passing them.

The bills may not have gone as far as Williams wanted, but he can't take away from the opposition the credit for them.

The Republicans will probably try to show—and have a hard time proving to the unnoticing public—that Williams' legislative liaison was neither forceful, shrewd nor persuasive.

In fact, the absence of "front office" lobbying made some observers wonder whether Williams really wanted the Republicans to build him a strong campaign platform or whether he just didn't know how to go about it.

Dutch Folk Find Cost Of Living Very High

By PEG BOLGER

Holland—Life for the career girl in beautiful Holland is a continuous routine of stretching a guilder beyond economic endurance. Through the eyes of Trynte Buytenhuys, a tall, curly-haired secretary, I was made to see that life was no bed of tulips.

During the war Trynte (who insisted on being called "Turk" for convenience) delivered underground newspapers. For this dangerous assignment she dressed like a man and used her bicycle for transportation. She knew the assignment was dangerous because the Nazis caught her fiancé at the same job and shot him.

Turk is a secretary in one of the Netherlands' most prominent companies. She receives 300 guilders a month, which is much better than average. Though the exchange is favorable dollars-wise, for practical purposes a guilder can purchase in Holland what corresponds to a dollar's worth in the U. S.

As Turk tells it: "My salary is 300 guilders a month without taxes. I receive 220 after the taxes are taken out. It is a very good salary for a secretary."

"The rent is the big part, I have two rooms, a sitting room and a little kitchen. They are unfurnished and unequipped. The rent is 60 guilders a month. It is high, but a typical price in Holland today."

"I pay a minimum of 15 guilders a week for food, sometimes more. And I also pay 3.255 guilders a week for cleaning."

She rolled her eyes. "But the clothing! I forgot the clothing. I'd noticed that the simplest cotton dresses in the windows were expensive and was interested.

"We are still on coupons of course—lucky England to be off them now—this coat I'm wearing cost 75 guilders in addition to the precious coupons. I was fortunate to find the coat. Textiles are very scarce. Very hard to get."

She held out a foot. "This pair of shoes cost 31 guilders." That seemed pretty high to me and I said so.

"I can't get along on my salary even though it is good," Turk said. "I earn extra by translations and some extra work for the Artists' Federation."

The conversation switched to artists. To the visitor it seems that everyone in Holland wields a paint brush. Exhibitions, professional and amateur are commonplace. Pictures are offered for sale in museums, restaurants, furniture stores—in fact wherever there is a handy wall or something to lean the picture against, it seems.

"Painting is a national disease," Turk declared. "Everyone tries it sooner or later. I did myself before the war . . . and then I became . . . too busy."

Unlike Rotterdam, this city was not seriously damaged. Turk was very proud of her city and took me for a boat ride on a canal.

When I became curious about flags placed at various places in the park Turk explained that the flags and wreaths marked the graves of resistance heroes shot by the Nazis.

More Holland impressions: A most curious sensation is to be traveling on the water which in places is higher than the land because of the dikes.

Marshall Plan Praised While Holland's recovery is evident and the Marshall Plan is praised loudly and sincerely, war scars still show up vividly. The memory of war is poignantly present around the carefully tended graves of over 20,000 Americans.

I met a very attractive middle-aged secretary who amazed me by telling me as much about Antigo, Wisconsin, as I knew. She was Elizabeth Van Dalen, cousin of Mrs. Bessie Ings of Antigo. Miss Van Dalen lives in an attractive but modest apartment where I visited.

She served me Advocaat which is a brandy and egg-yolk mixture eaten with a spoon, sort of a solidified cocktail. While she has traveled to Italy, England, Scotland and other parts of Europe her burning ambition is to visit Antigo.

I was amazed when a businessman stopped me in the hotel lobby and after inquiring whether I was an American, insisted upon shaking my hand. When I asked the reason he said he wanted to thank me for the Marshall Plan. And, feeling a little like Uncle Sam, himself, I said, "You're welcome," and meant it.

The art museums in Amsterdam are a must-visit for a stranger. The Rembrandts which overflow several rooms. While there are modern paintings galore in Amsterdam Rembrandt is the painter people are most proud of.

Tulips In Bloom Home of a thousand artists, Holland itself looks like an old painting come to life. There is something about the soil that makes it burst with flowers. The tulips are out in more colors than you believed existed.

Old windmills are characteristic of the countryside. One that had been built 1520 is still in use. Workers in the fields are part of an old painting too. Crouched, they plant the long rows on hands and knees.

To my surprise I saw woden shoes here and there in the country and a few villages attired in costumes of the region. Baggy pants and gathered skirts were old-fashioned and picturesque.

In modern contrast Holland has an outstanding civil aviation program. KLM, with its 90,000 employees, has had 30 years of successful operation and flies to every country in the world. Its operation plant in the Hague would make a Rickenbacker envious.

The only rival to KLM in the regard of the people is the Queen. The only rival to the regard of the Queen is the cheerful, confident, faith in themselves and their energetic democracy. Industrious, stubborn, art-loving, proud, Holland's people will get there—come fire, tornadoes or a break in the dike.

Lansing, (P)—For the first time since November, traffic fatalities in Michigan have slumped below last year's level.

The State Police reported that 92 persons were killed on the highways in April, or 17 fewer than the same month a year ago.

However, there were 2,926 persons injured in traffic in April, or six per cent more than a year ago. Accidents increased eight per cent to 10,581.

Traffic deaths were reduced on urban and rural trunklines but increased in county roads, mainly due to a sharp increase in rural pedestrian deaths.

To date this year there have been 395 traffic fatalities and 11,164 injuries, a 12 per cent increase in deaths and a four per cent increase in injuries. Mileage increased three per cent in the same period and the death rate per 100 million miles of travel jumped 14 per cent.

RUARK PLANS TO TAKE TRIP

To Make Getaway While Spouse Housecleans

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—Had a dream the other night in which Rita Hayworth eloped with Alger Hiss and Judy Coplon got engaged to the Ali Khan. David Lilienthal was being cleaned up for the Brooklyn Dodgers while Senator Hickenlooper was reprimanded by Happy Chandler for booing Leo Durocher.

I can take a hint as well as the next nightmare jockey. Any man who wakes up, muttering "40 billion, 50 billion, 60 billion" had better get out of town.

Even before the disturbed dreams begin, the symptoms of an incipient trip are fairly easy to diagnose. Usually I start to mumble at myself in the shaving mirror, like a man who has been working too long in Washington.

After the mumbles comes the twitch. The twitch is most marked when atom scientists refuse to tell whether they're Communists on grounds it may incriminate them, or when professors like that Clarence F. Hisey say that giving secrets to the Russians would be disloyal—and then won't say whether they've parceled out any such secrets.

Finally mama starts muscling the furniture around. She beckons in the upholsterer and jerks the carpets out from under you and gazes moodily at the old, beat-up drapes. When that special symptom strikes, bong, I don't even need the dream. I just start to peek.

Last year this time I ran away from a house-lifting operation and wound up playing the jawbone of an ass with a Samba band in Brazil. That, it developed, was too strenuous a seizure of escapism. Rio de Janeiro is just a little too distant for my current attack of feckless foot.

Chooses Corn Belt

It may not sound very dashing, but I have settled on the corn belt for this pilgrimage. I have heard tell that there is a man in Ohio who is so nice that nobody in his home town ever knocked him. This man I would like to meet.

I happen to know that in the city of Columbus, O., lives a fellow named Real Comfort. Columbus is the town which assigned a cop named John Barleycorn to bust up a bootlegging ring. There is a family named Shrum that I would like to know better, since it produced the world's first good humor man, the world's only builder of mechanical elephants, and the world's greatest boomerang hurler, Henry Wallace not excepted.

I have been reading Mark Twain again, and have a sudden gnawing urge to go catfishing. I recall a fierce fellow named Frank Ford in Evansville, Ind., and intend to take my life in my hands and pay him a call. I will play no poker with Ford.

We progress to Indianapolis, where I hope to become the first man ever to write a piece about that city after the speedway classic. I go to Cincinnati largely because I have never been to Cincinnati.

Nobody believes that the current claimant to the name of Jesse James is Jesse James. Nobody except me, that is. I am going to visit him in Missouri and ask him why he waited 67 years to declare himself. I ain't that patient.

On this voyage I pledge to spade up no trends of any shape or color, and have posted a sizeable bond against using the word "grassroots" or "hustings."

I think I will start with Columbus. In Columbus the locomotive cowcatcher was invented, also the jellybean, and it once had a citizen named Get-Ready Walters, who spent his time shouting that the world was coming to an end. Sounds like a nice place to rummage around in.

Lansing Executive Office Catches Up On New Legislation

Lansing, (P)—The executive office, catching up with Governor Williams' bill signing rush before he left for Washington, D. C., reported 12 new legislative acts have become law.

Included are those to: Give the state health department stronger control over the installation of water works and sewage disposal systems.

Require sex hygiene courses in public schools to be taught by a registered physician or nurse or a teacher qualified as a supervisor in the subject.

Treat real and personal property alike in the accumulation of income for the benefit of minor heirs.

Abolish the right of one school district in a township to swallow up other districts in the township.

Prohibit any one from interfering with department of agriculture agents permanently identifying cattle who have Bang's disease.

Require commercial fishermen to notify the conservation department 24 hours after the close of a season as to the number of fish on hand, and forbid sale of any fish not so reported.

Permit serving judicial processes to out of state and unauthorized insurers by delivering them to the state insurance commissioner.

Deny cooperative corporations the privilege of permitting stockholders to accumulate their votes for directors.

Very Young, Under 5 And Aged Increase In Census Figures

Washington, (P)—The very young (under five) and the "aged" (over 65) both reached record highs in number during 1948, the census bureau reports.

There were 15,106,000 children under five and 10,950,000 persons above 65 out of a total population of 146,571,000 last July 1, the bureau said.

The median age was 29.8 years, signifying that half the population was older, the other half younger than that. The median for men alone was 29.4 years against 30.2 for women.

The overall median age figure was the same in 1948 as a year earlier, reflecting what the bureau called a "temporary halt" in a long-time tendency toward a heavier proportion of old people.

Women's Dainties Collected As Hobby

Washington, Calif., (P)—Thousands of stolen bras, panties, slips and girdles were recovered by police with the arrest of a man they said had a "peculiar hobby" of hoarding such items.

A woman's skirt, something the man rarely collected, led to his arrest. It dropped from his trouser leg while police questioned him on a report he had been seen loitering in a basement laundry room.

A search of his apartment unearthed thousands of undergarments packed in two steamer trunks, a bushel basket and four suitcases.

Police said the accused man, a Negro carpenter, had stolen the filthy unmentionables from Bethesda, Md., apartment dwellers during the past year. They said

The bride was escorted up the white carpeted aisle on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. Fun Under the Sun

FLYING BANNERS and a gentle summer breeze add to the gaiety of the Manhasset Bay Home and Beach Association's outing by the water.

LINING 'EM UP: Chief Starter Enscoe has swimmers toe mark.

It's hard to beat the good old summer time for fun. With the warm sun laying on successive coats of tan, you can take your pick of a hundred recreations—from sun bathing to playing baseball, from strolling along with the one and only to helping jam an amusement park. One of the better recreations is a community festival—a picnic, a fair, or (if you have the place for it) a water carnival. Here's how one neighborhood group, at Port Washington on Long Island, has been putting on a carnival for years. The group tops off the season with an entertainment that combines features of a picnic for everybody and a swimming meet for the youngsters.

ROUNDING 'EM UP: Megaphone Man Dalsimer calls for another event.

SIGNING 'EM UP: Committeeman Schermerhorn keeps entry records straight.

BLOWING 'EM DOWN: There's only one way a contest like this can end.

AN EGG RACE for married women is one of the events for adults that heighten fun and whet appetites for lunch and ice cream at program's end.

FUND REDUCEDAllocation Board Adds
To County Fund

Confronted with the gravely serious fact that ways and means will have to be found to meet rising general expenses of the county with sources of revenue that are far from elastic, the Schoolcraft County Tax Allocation Board, in session Thursday, switched the fund allotments in a manner which will provide 1.5 mills more revenue for the county general fund and the same millage less for schools.

An increase in the county's relief load and increasing costs in care for patients in state hospitals—Ann Arbor, Newberry and Powers Sanatorium— is putting the county in the red, it was declared.

To help offset this situation funds were allocated in the following manner:

City of Manistique

County, 10.5 mills.
City, .001 mill.
Schools 4.499 mills.
(Last year's allocation gave 9 mills to the county, .001 mill to the city and 5.999 mills to the schools.)

Townships

County, 10.5 mills.
Township, no allocation.
Schools, 4.5 mills.
(Last year's allocation in the townships gave 9 mills to the county, one mill to the townships and 5.999 to the schools.)

The next county tax allocation board meeting will be held at the court house on Tuesday, July 20.

CLEARUP BEE AT TIMBER TRAILVolunteers Wanted To Aid Good Cause

Sunday will work day at Timber Trail, the Girl Scout camp on Highway 13 where scores of girls spend one and two week outings every summer.

Men and women interested in setting the place to rights for duty this summer are asked to make the journey. There is some brushing to do, a bit of landscaping planned, weathered places on the building which need repairing and nailing down and many items of attention necessary to put the place in shape. Men are asked to bring hammers and saws along.

People from Marquette, Munising and Negaunee are also expected to be there so the occasion will be in the nature of a "fixin' Bee."

Those going are asked to bring lunch. Coffee will be provided.

On the committee for this effort are Mrs. Gordon Hughes, chairman; Mrs. Russell Watson, R. G. Hentschell, Paul Vizona and Robert Slining.

MSC Ponders Effect Of Big Ten Membership On Athletes' Eligibility

East Lansing, Mich., June 4 (AP)—Michigan State college athletic officials were wondering today just how membership in the Big Ten will affect eligibility of its players in various sports.

There was a gloomy possibility that Western Conference eligibility rules—invoked retroactively—might riddle the Spartan teams in football and other major sports.

Yesterday Big Ten Commissioner Leonard L. (Tug) Wilson declared ineligible four MSC baseball team members who played summer ball a year ago with the Northern League in Vermont.

The four first-stringers were pulled from the lineup promptly, and State dropped an 11 to 9 decision to Bradley University of Peoria, Ill.

Although complying quickly with Wilson's decision, Spartan

Baseball Coach John H. Kobs said he could not understand why the conference eligibility rule should apply to actions of players at a time before Michigan State was a member of the Big Ten.

That raised a question among MSC athletic observers as to whether the same sort of retroactivity would apply in other sports.

For example, a number of the Spartan football squad players received at one time the college's controversial Jenison athletic scholarships.

Michigan State discontinued the scholarships last fall because they were disapproved by the Western Conference. But now the MSC athletic heads are wondering if former scholarship men may be declared ineligible anyway.

Dean Lloyd C. Emmons, chairman of the MSC athletic board, expressed belief that the Big Ten ruling would apply only to baseball.

"I cannot see how it would affect our former Jenison scholars," Emmons said. "I am very sorry they made it retroactive."

Wilson, who was not available for comment on the situation after handing down the ruling, reported a protest filed with him led to disqualification of the four

Michigan State baseball team members.

He did not say who filed the protest.

Two of the Spartans disqualified played last summer with the Montpelier, Vt., team which was managed by Ray Fisher, baseball coach at the University of Michigan. The four earned about $150 a month during the league season. Earlier this spring a University of Michigan pitcher, Dick Smith, was declared ineligible for Western Conference competition because he played in the same league.

The Michigan State players ousted by yesterday's ruling included:

Charles (Buzz) Bowers, sophomore pitcher from Wayland, Mich. He had won four games and lost three for MSC, and was slated to pitch last night's contest.

Ed Sobczak, centerfielder, a senior from Pittsburgh. He was the team's leading hitter with a .347 batting average.

Dan Urbanick, first baseman, Flint, Mich., senior who batted .223.

Frank Bagdon, pitcher, a junior from Rockford, Ill. He had a .307 batting average.

Congress Baseball 'Debate' Is Won By Democrats, 16-10

By ARTHUR EDSON

Washington, June 4 (AP)—As a baseball player, your congressman looks better making speeches.

This was well illustrated last night in the annual congressional baseball game. As nearly as anyone could figure out, the Democrats won, 16-10.

But the boys looked most at home when they were jawing with the umpire.

Take Rep. Tom Pickett (D-Tex.). He caught one inning. "Ball!" bawled the umpire. "What?" yelled Pickett, snatching off his mask and pretending he was furious.

Experts agreed there isn't a catcher in the majors who could have done it better.

Unfortunately, the congressmen didn't do much arguing, at which they were superb. They did do some baseball playing, at which they were entertaining.

Possibly the best baseball player of the lot was Rep. Don Wheeler (D-Ga.). He was the starting pitcher for the Democrats, but he got tired. While he was resting, the Republicans tied the score at 10-10.

According to baseball rules, once you go out of a game you're through. But who can lay down the law to lawmakers?

Wheeler came back, after the Democrats had gone ahead 16-10 in the fifth and last inning, to hold the Republicans scoreless in their final turn at bat.

The Democrats had a slight edge in everything.

They collected two home runs, by Rep. Gene McCarthy (Minn.) and Rep. Mendel Rivers (S. C.).

And they turned in two double-plays, something almost unheard of in congressional baseball games.

One of them came following a fine running catch by Rep. Hugh Addonizio (D-N. J.) in left field. He then doubled Rep. Francis Case (R-S. D.) off second.

Best hit of the night: A sizzling grounder down the third base line by Rep. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.). Since it drove in two runs, broke a 10-10 tie, and gave the Democrats a lead they never lost, it came in mighty handy, too.

Around 3,000 saw the game, sponsored by the Washington Evening Star for the benefit of underprivileged children.

WINNER TAKE ALL—Having won the Augusta Masters and the PGA Championship, the latter for the second time, Sam Snead takes his best shot at the U. S. Open at the Medinah, Ill., Country Club, June 9-11. It's the only championship that the White Sulphur Springs professional hasn't captured.

Employees of State Ferries Get Raise

Lansing, June 4 (AP)—Approximately 150 employees of the state ferries at the Straits of Mackinac got a pay raise today from the State Civil Service commission.

The raises, based on a 40-hour work week, will bring employees between $10 and $25 more a month, the commission said. Total cost will be between $15,000 and $18,000 a year.

Arthur G. Rasch, Civil Service director, said many employees working on a 56-hour week will be paid straight time for overtime instead of time and a half.

Declaring the ferry employees were being brought into the state pay system wholly for the first time, Rasch said some employees now earning $132 a month had been classified in a $150-a-month class but with their overtime payments would receive $10 to $25 more monthly than they now make.

The raises were made retroactive to May 22, the date when other lower bracket state employees got a salary increase.

Voice Of America Muffled In Russia By 205 Jam Noises

New York, (AP)—The Voice of America admits the Russians have regained the upper hand in the growing battle of the airwaves.

A voice spokesman said that American broadcasts to Russia virtually have been drowned out by a record 205 Soviet jamming stations.

"We are getting through only for brief and scattered periods," the voice spokesman said.

Working with the British Broadcasting Corp., the voice has only 61 stations with which to beam American information to Soviet listeners. The Russians are using as many as seven or eight jamming transmitters against a single voice station, he added.

Jamming first was stepped up by Russia last April 24 until it virtually blanketed the voice broadcasts under a cloak of confusing noise.

The voice threw more transmitters into the contest and began broadcasting around the clock. This worked for a while until Russia stepped up her jamming operations again.

The spokesman said the voice broadcasts have been trimmed to bare news essentials of major importance so that Russian listeners who do pick up the voice briefly will be interested enough to listen.

Campaign Continues On Swimmer's Itch

Lansing, (AP)—The annual swimmer's itch eradication program will be conducted again this year, the water resources commission announced.

The legislature approved the usual $10,000 appropriation to carry on the work. Beach owners or communities must apply to the commission and supply the needed chemicals and boats. The commission sends crews to do the work.

The treatment kills the snails which harbor the parasites causing the itch. Bathers, fish and clams are not affected by the treatment.

Sixteen counties have beaches known to require treatment. They are Antrim, Cass, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Chippewa, Clare, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Jackson, Lapeer, Leelanau, Oakland, Roscommon, Schoolcraft, Washtenaw and Wexford.

Well-Digger, 80, and Fisherman, 70, Are Fathers This Week

Milan, Tenn., June 4 (AP)—Two elderly Tennessee men, an 80-year-old well-digger and a 70-year-old fisherman, became fathers this week.

Mrs. John Pillow, 40, became the mother of a nine-pound girl yesterday at Milan hospital. Her husband works every day at his occupation of well-digging.

The Pillows, who have several other children, live in Milan.

The wife of fisherman William D. Wheeler gave birth Wednesday to a 11½ pound boy.

Wheeler, who lives in nearby Greenfield, is the father of 17 other children.

Police Question 3 On Drinking Party

Three persons, a man and two women, are being questioned by city police, and an unidentified man is being sought, with reference to a drinking party in Ludington Park last night.

One woman reported to police that she had been thrown into the lake by her escort. The other awoke on the tennis courts in the park this morning, nearly nude. One of the women is married and the other is 17 years old.

Police officers are investigating and indicated that charges of drunk and disorderly conduct and contributing to delinquency of a juvenile may be pressed.

Court Fines Three Drivers on Counts Of Reckless Driving

Phillip J. Dubord of Bark River, Route Two, Robert William Nelson of 816 South 16th street and Thomas Dumas of 923 First avenue north paid fines of $25 and court costs before Judge Henry Ranguette yesterday after pleading guilty to charges of reckless driving.

Dubord confessed to an Escanaba attorney and the court, voluntarily, that he had hit a car driven by Earl Winchester in the 400 block of Stephenson avenue about 4 p. m. May 28. Dubord did not stop and police were investigating to apprehend the hit and run driver. Mrs. Winchester had been thrown out of the car when it was hit in the rear end by Dubord, and the Winchester car was seriously damaged. Dubord must also make restitution for damages.

Nelson was involved in an accident May 31 with three other young persons when his car overturned at the intersection of Lake Shore Drive and South 14th street.

Dumas' car overturned on US-241 in Memory Lane Thursday night when he was attempting to pass a car.

Court Convicts 3 Romanian Officials Of Spying For U. S.

Bucharest, Romania, (AP)—Three former Romanian officials were convicted by military court trying them for high treason for allegedly betraying state secrets to an American military attaché.

Two of the defendants were given prison sentences of 20 years and the third got 25 years. A fourth defendant who faced lesser charges was sentenced to five years.

The American mentioned in the case was Col. John R. Lovell, former military attaché at the U. S. legation here.

(The government last November requested the recall of Lovell and Henry P. Leverich, legation counselor on charges they had conspired with "spies and saboteurs.")

The U. S. termed the charges ridiculous and countered by asking Romania to recall two of its representatives in Washington. Lovell and Leverich left Bucharest on June 1.)

Fraternity Fined For Liquor Party, Put On Probation

Ann Arbor, Mich., (AP)—A University of Michigan disciplinary group has ordered a $500 fine and a year's probation for Sigma Phi fraternity.

The penalties ordered by the sub-committee on discipline, followed a raid by campus police on the chapter house last Saturday.

The raid, committee members said, showed that liquor was being served at a party in violation of university regulations. The probationary period will run to the end of the 1949-50 school year.

"Failure to show good faith may result in the imposition of more severe penalties," the fraternity was warned.

Last week, another fraternity, Delta Kappa Epsilon, was ordered closed because of "flagrant" violation of university rules.

Uranium Loss May Be Sabotage, Says Sen. Hickenlooper

Washington, June 4 (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said "the possibility of espionage" to "sabotage" the loss of four grams of uranium 235, and Senator McMahon (D-Conn) questioned that.

McMahon heads the Senate House Atomic Energy committee, which is in the midst of an intensive inquiry into the management of the atomic agency under Chairman David E. Lilienthal.

Hickenlooper, the top committee Republican who instigated the probe, insisted that spy work must be considered as a possible factor as long as atomic material still is missing. Of the ounce of enriched uranium originally lost, all but one eighth has been recovered.

"That's 4,000 times the amount of material involved in the Canadian spy case," Hickenlooper said. "Therefore, the possibility of espionage cannot be discounted."

(The Canadian case involved Dr. Allan Nunn May, a British scientist sentenced to 10 years imprisonment by a British court for giving one thousandth of a gram of fissionable material to Soviet agents in Canada.)

DROWNS IN CREEK—Cheboygan, (AP)—Nine-year-old Harold Hudson drowned late Thursday in Sammons creek near here. He had been pushing a raft along the stream with a pole and fell into the water.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Perry Jones High On This Year's Crop Of Southern California Tennis Kids

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, June 4 (AP)—The New York University Athletic Board voted not to send any of the Violett track and field stars to the N.C.A.A. meet in California because it's "too expensive."

That will cost Moon Mondshein a chance to defend his high jump title and the East's fastest mile relay team a chance to win a National crown.

Strange thing is that the five athletes Coach Emil Von Elling wanted to send may get to California as club representatives in the A.A.U. championships... and at the same time comes word that the U. of Georgia is dispensing with its athletic publicity director for reasons of economy.

That leave Bill Strudel looking for a job and Georgia's football team, probably, looking for some publicity it will need next fall.

Strike? No, Lockout.
Aaron Robinson, the Tigers' catcher, still gets a chuckle out of this one although it happened when he was with the White Sox last season.

The Sox were playing the Athletics and two were out and runners were on second and third. When the count reached 3-2 on batter Taft Wright, the catcher, Buddy Rosar, went to talk to the pitcher then took a place off to one side as if to make it an intentional pass.

Wright stood there, completely relaxed, waiting to be walked when the pitcher fired one right down the middle and Rosar jumped behind the plate to catch it.

Says Robinson: "Wright wouldn't talk to Rosar the rest of the season and I'll bet he's still sore, though they're both on the same team this year."

Sportsmention
Perry Jones, who developed so many good young tennis players in Southern California, figures this year's crop of kids is very promising. He's especially high on 15-year-old Don Kierbow of Venice, Calif.

Skip Rowland, the U.C.L.A. football and baseball star, probably will sign with the Dodger organization right after his graduation.

If some arrangement can be made to put an ice rink into the new Municipal Arena under construction at San Antonio, Tex., a Texas Hockey league likely will be formed next season. Texas members of the U. S. league find it tough bucking those long trips and payrolls that are as high as major league clubs had before the war.

Esqu High Competes Today in U. P. Net Meet in Kingsford
The Escanaba high school tennis team is participating in the Upper Peninsula prep tournament in Kingsford today.

Dick Danielson and Don Ashland will handle the singles assignments. Doubles contestants will be Jim Chapekis and Jim Prokos, Harold Cloutier and Jerome Besson and Bob Johnson and Stanley Sarasin.

Nimbus Wins the English 'Darby'
Epsom, England, June 4 (AP)—Nimbus won the 170th running of the Epsom Derby today in a photo finish with two other horses.

The French invader, Amour Drake, was second while Swallow Tail was third in the mile and one half classic.

Nimbus, owned by Mrs. M. Glenister and ridden by Charlie Elliott, won a record first money of $56,680.

It was another bitter disappointment for Gordon Richards, champion British jockey who never has won the coveted derby.

FINAL CUB TRYOUT
The Escanaba Cubs will hold their final tryouts at the city field at 2 tomorrow afternoon, at which time Coach Al Ness will pick his team. Positions are still open, however, Ness said. Any boy who was not 17 years of age before January 1, 1949, who wants to try out is welcome to do so.

NEIGHBORS PITCH IN
Owosso (AP)—Forty neighbors lent a helping hand Wednesday to Fairfield township farmer Paul Brown, whose wife's illness has kept him from his outdoor work in recent weeks. Using 20 tractors, they planted 55 acres of crops in half a day.

Mrs. Carnier is accused of shooting Owen, 68, at his ranch April 22 after a quarrel over his friendship with Miss Rich. Testimony is scheduled to start Tuesday.

Six Records May Fall In Central College Track Go

Milwaukee, June 4 (AP)—Six records were pegged for possible smashing today as 300 athletes from 38 colleges gathered for the 24th annual running of the Central Collegiate Conference Outdoor track meet.

The pegging was done by Athletic Director Conrad M. Jennings of Marquette University as preliminaries were scheduled to open at 3:30 p. m. (EST) on the Hilltop track. All finals in the 16-event program will be held tonight, starting at 9 p. m. (EST).

Jennings, meet chairman, named four track and two field events in his forecast. They are the 880-yard run, one-mile, 120-yard high hurdles and the 440-yard relay plus the pole vault and shotput.

Purdue Nine Blows Chance To Win Big 10 Title By Itself

Chicago, June 4 (AP)—A four-way tie for the Big Ten baseball championship appeared likely today as Purdue, blowing its chances of copping the pennant outright, tangles at Columbus with Ohio State in the season's final conference game.

By sweeping the two-game series with the Buckeyes, Purdue could have won the crown. In the opener yesterday, Ohio State uncooked a 13-1 victory behind Pete Perini's four-hitter while his mates hammered out 18 hits.

A Purdue win today would leave the Boilermakers sharing the flag with Indiana, Iowa and Michigan, each with 8-4 records. Another Purdue defeat would result in a three-way share of the pennant.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Indiana	8	4	.667
Iowa	8	4	.667
Michigan	8	4	.667
Purdue	7	4	.636
Illinois	6	5	.545
Ohio State	5	6	.455
Minnesota	4	7	.364
Wisconsin	3	9	.250
Northwestern	3	9	.250

Bark River to Play Mahnke, Menard in Wilson Tilt Sunday
Bark River, June 4—They've got the bunting out at Bark River to welcome Eddy Mahnke, long ball hitter who has returned to his native haunts from the wilds of Michigan boulevard in Chicago and will be in the lineup when Bark River faces Wilson here tomorrow.

It will be a Tri-County league game and will get underway at 2:30. Bark River has been picking up steam of late after a slow start. After dropping two, the defending champions have won two.

The bunting is also out for Ray Menard, erstwhile St. Joseph's hurler of Escanaba, who will be on the mound for the Barkers. Ben Kleiman, veteran hurler and heavy hitter, will play the outfield.

Catholic Information
The Mass was foretold 2300 years ago

"From the rising of the sun even to the going down, my name is great among the Gentiles, and in every place there is sacrifice, and there is offered to my name a clean oblation" (Mal. 1:11).

So said God 2300 years ago through the mouth of His prophet, Malachias. Did God keep His word? Was the prophecy fulfilled? "Yes," states the Catholic, "through the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass."

Let us go back to the Last Supper 1900 years ago. Here Jesus Christ took bread and wine and, blessing them, said to His disciples: "This is my body which is given for you" (Luke 22:19). "This is my blood of the new testament, which shall be shed for many unto the remission of sins" (Matt. 26:28). "Do this in commemoration of me" (Luke 22:19). He thereby offered Himself to the Eternal Father as the Clean Oblation of the New Law and commanded that this sacrifice of His, which was completed on the Cross the following day be re-enacted by His Church until the end of time.

Today in every corner of the globe "from the rising of the sun even to the going down" there is sacrifice and a clean oblation offered in the name of God—the re-enactment in an unbloody manner of the Sacrifice of the Cross. Thus is fulfilled the prophecy of Malachias; and thus also is given to the faithful, in Holy Communion, the body and blood of Christ Himself, who said 1900 years ago: "Except you eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, you shall not have life in you" (John 6:54).

The Mass is the perfect act of worship and petition, because Jesus Christ, the infinite Priest, through the instrumentality of the earthly Priest, offers up Himself, the infinite Victim, to the infinite God.

No wonder then that Catholics throng to their churches to assist at Mass on Sundays and many other days! No wonder they have Masses offered up for the dead, the dying, the suffering, the struggling, and indeed for any worthy cause! It's the Mass that matters — matters more to Catholics than anything else this side of Heaven.

If it's anything Catholic, ask a Catholic!
